MARKUS ZOSEL - DELIGHTED (2016)

1. That Evening

My love came by that evening. She said: "I got to go away from there. Cause I only have been grieving – now I got to run away from him"

For only weeks we had been lovers. Oh, in some distant year ago. And the way I still recalled those days. Oh, no – I'll prob'ly never show.

And somehow for a while she laughed and she smiled: "why didn't we stay together for all times?" And I just said: "Oh, great!

Anytime you'll take a break, you know I'll never be hard to find."

Then she turned and she was leaving just the same as in some distant year ago. So sure the world was waiting, And so do I – and she'll prob'ly never know.

And somehow for a while she laughed and she smiled: "why didn't we stay together for all times?" Ans I just said: "Oh, great! Anytime you'll take a break - you know I'll never be hard to find."

My love came by that evening. She said: "I got to go away from there...

2. Delighted

I've always been the traveling one - always on the go. I looked both ways just to learn in case I did not know. I followed different roads that led right into the wild. Growing like an adult – feeling like a child. Take me somewhere I don't know. Let it be the way we are – let it simply show. Tell me the way we are is right. All the way through morning all the way through the night

Some might call me wanderer. Some might call me something else. For everywhere I might have been I found another chance.
People passing on – wherever they may go. With all the things, they might have said. With all the things, they might have known.

3. A Quest of The Heart

Let me take you by the hand and won't you help me understand the vision I once had been dreaming 'bout all the things that came and all that went.

Might there be a place where life and dream might not be in collision? Do you know that very place or can you help me try to understand?

Let me take your hand to try to understand. Right there from the start it's been a quest of the heart.

There'll always be the lonely ones but I never considered myself lonely. There'll always be the "Wanna Be" who doesn't see a glimpse of truth at all. There'll always be the princess lost in some forgotten forest. Consider me the searching one who tries to avoid the fall.

4. I Don't Wanna Know

You told me about a friend of mine way back in long ago. And all the things he used to tell and all that he would show. But I don't wanna know. No, I don't wanna know.

And life has been a friend to you. And all the roads you crossed seemed a highway without end - some game, you just lost. But I don't wanna know. No I don't wanna know, no, no!

Take me somewhere I don't know. Let it be the way we are – let it simply show. Tell me the way we are is right. All the way through morning all the way through the night.

Let me take your hand to try to understand. Right there from the start it's been a quest of the heart.

I'd like to meet you right up there in the very first of sunlight. On a mountain side in the soft first light of the day.

Where land and sky unite in wonder take a breath – you're right then. Follow any highway that you wish to – and do come back again.

Let me take your hand to try to understand. Right there from the start it's been a quest of the heart.

Let me take your hand to try to understand. Right there from the start it's been a quest of the heart.

Let us sit and share a cup of wonder unexplained. Tell me of your dreams and not of all that has remained. 'Cause I don't wanna know. No, I don't wanna know – no, no!

5. I Can Do No Better

And here I sit – and here I sing. You know, I can do no better. But sing a song and write along and name things for the better. Like calling from afar – oh, whatever things there are. A space to write, a space inside and never ending harmony to go and to flow.

the better. And this way will be there for us to find. Will so sure be there to find.

And there's a dream left quite unseen in a thousand songs or more. That all might be not just fantasy – quite something we're all looking for. Softly blowing like a wind. It's just about to begin. And all voices would be strong and free and clinging to each other so dear and without fear.

I'm just a man – that's what I am. Every man can make a difference. For all to see – and in case of me that's why I chose for singing. Lending a voice for all who care. A chain and an everlasting chant. That's why I sing! That's why I sing! You know I can do no better. That's all it is about.

6. Riding Through The Night

You're the one who told me about riding through the night. You're the one who always used to say don't stick too much with all your mind way back in the night. Raise your head up to the light of day.

You're the one to say that it ain't worth a dime to spend. You're the one that made me feel this way. But I cannot ignore right now I did not comprehend. But it made me smile that day.

And if you'd ever wonder I'll be there to see. Don't hesitate to call me, because I'll be wandering there all so free.

Don't ever stop to tell me about riding through the light. Don't you always make me feel that way? I'd rather be a dancer in the light of day. Come dance with me all the way.

And if you'd ever wonder I'll be there to see. Don't hesitate to call me, because I'll be wandering there all so free.

Don't ever stop to tell me about riding through the light. Don't you always make me feel that way? I'd rather be a dancer in the light of day. Come dance with me all the way.

7. I've Just Seen Her

I've just seen her, I've just seen her and the world seems to shine bright. I have seen her, yes, I've seen her and I won't find sleep tonight.

She was smiling, she was smiling. She was smiling all on her own. And it took me into something and she just went along.

I just heard her, I just heard her. With a soft voice calling my name. Must have been her, must have been her. She finally came back home again

As I woke up in the morning my room was lit up bright. As I woke up she was gone. Then she disappeared all with the night.

8. Jumping In And Out Again

Oh, here you stand before me with your heart in your hand and I see – here we go again.

It's the same old situation and it'll always be the same. What starts as sunshine must end in rain.

And you wanna be much closer - you tell me all again and I prob'ly want just the same. But it's much more complicated in case you watch close at hand – maybe you could try to understand.

Let me stand right here before you. Let me tell you just the same. I want to have and want to hold you. But don't jump in and out again.

It might be I'm slightly different as you soon may see. But there is just no other me. Dancing in the light of morning dreaming in the night and calling out: I was born to be free!

Let me stand right here before you. Let me tell you just the same. I want to have and want to hold you. But don't jump in and out again.

9. Off We Go

*Fill your glasses with summer wine and turn your lights down low - turn your lights down low
and off we go.*

Shine your light on a winter's night when there's nowhere you can go – nowhere you can go and make it grow.

Give a smile for a little while it comes right back to you – comes right back to you. That's for sure.

And all the times that you realize that's the way it all may work – the way it all may work just for you.

Take me home wherever you may go – I might go there, too. I might go there, too – and off we go.

Make me smile for a little while nothing more it needs to be – no more you need to see that off we go.

*Fill your glasses with summer wine and turn
your lights down low - turn your lights down low
and off we go.*

Shine your light on a winter's night when there's nowhere you can go – nowhere you can go and make it grow.

10. On a Larger Scale

*You have been lovely on a larger scale.
You're not going to turn away. It doesn't matter if it's win or lose. It doesn't matter if we'd fail.*

It doesn't matter - oh, no!

You're always trying in the easy way. You try to ignore the past. And everything for you is here to stay. And everything is bound to stay.

You do ignore, oh. And you're so sure, oh.

And you don't even care about tomorrow. You don't care 'bout trouble that comes along your way. You talk about joy – never sorrow. Even if you had. Even if there was.

*I couldn't love you any more than this.
There'd be so much left to say. But preferring to* *be smiling I stay silent and I let you know this way.

That I'll stay right here. 'Cause I'm sure you already know.*

*And you don't even care about tomorrow.
You don't care 'bout trouble that comes along
your way. You talk about joy – never sorrow.
Even if you had. Even if there was so much to say.*

It doesn't matter, no, no!

*And you don't even care about tomorrow.
You don't care 'bout trouble that comes along
your way. You talk about joy – never sorrow.
Even if you had. Even if there was so much to say.*

11. I Gotta Row

*I gotta row, Baby, row on my own.
Any time I'm back I'll let you know, but now I know I got to go.*

I gotta row, Baby, row on my own.

*I gotta dream, Baby, dream on my own.
The highway is a better place. As you walk along you leave a trace.*

I gotta dream, Baby, dream on my own.

*I gotta love, Honey, a love for my own.
You gotta go out – go insane. But you won't fool me once again.*

I gotta love, Honey, love for my own.

*I gotta sing, Baby, sing for my own.
The stars they shine so bright and clear. And somebody else will soon be here.*

I gotta sing, Baby, sing for my own.

*I gotta row, Baby, row on my own.
Any time I'm back I'll let you know, but now I know I got to go.*

I gotta row, Baby, row on my own.

12. Unforgiven Love Song

I got to call you when I'll be back. I know I should be with you instead. Don't worry – I'll be back again.

There's been so many places I passed. So many times, I went too fast. I ask you: "Won't you wait at home?"

No matter what you see in me I got to make it differently. Now I got to go somewhere else.

*I dreamed the dream of a thousand dreams.
I've seen the future in memories. But after all I remained myself.*

*Won't you stay with me - even after this
unforgiven love song?*

I got to go, but I will be back. And, by now, I got to dream instead. But I know this one is for real.

I hope the wind's going to take your dreams to the sounds of eternity. And who knows? It's all so right – you'll see!

*Won't you stay with me - even after this
unforgiven love song?*

I got to call you when I'll be back. I know I should be with you instead. Don't worry – I'll be back again.
